You need to unzip them in order to get the files. In Linux you would use the file command and read the man pages on it to find out how to unzip them. But it's almost as simple as opening a folder and going to File>Open If you can't unzip, then my bet is that the.rar is a RAR archive and the other is ZIP. RAR is pretty easy to use though, and you should be able to double click on it and get the files you want. Production of collagen and sulfated glycosaminoglycans by a human osteosarcoma cell line: effect of parathyroid hormone. We examined the collagen and sulfated glycosaminoglycan (GAG) secretion by a human osteosarcoma cell line. Although the sulfated GAG secretion was stimulated by parathyroid hormone (PTH) in a dose-dependent manner, the secretion of collagen was not affected by PTH even at a high concentration. The secretion of the collagen-degrading enzyme, collagenase, was not stimulated by PTH. The observed difference between sulfated GAG and collagen secretion was due to differences in calcium dependence and in sensitivities of PTH and collagenase f678ea9f9e
